

Teen suicide prevention campaign

18% of high school students admit to contemplating suicide. That's about 1 out of every 5 teens!

The purpose of high school is to provide a smooth transition into adulthood, but schools today lack a more important life skill, how to cope with trauma.

What exactly is trauma? Any event that occurs in an individual's life outside the scope of their usual life experiences; death of a loved one, bullying, rejection, ridicule, racism, sexual preference acceptance, breakups, love, abuse, inadequacies, unrealistic expectations, and failures.

Is it the experience that is traumatic or, is it the emotion attached to the experience?

Here at International Suicide Prevention, we have discovered that there are three components in a memory; Sensory data, emotional state, and level of intensity. And, we can now remove the intensity of any past memory with our NEW self-help procedures that can be done anywhere all within 5 minutes and, the results are permanent. These NEW methods bypass stigma, unconventional and, holistic.

Here at International Suicide Prevention, a 501(c)(3) public charity nonprofit, we have taken the initiative to target memories of an emotionally compromising situation and/or circumstance, and disabling the intensity. NOW we are making this information available in our, 'Suicide Prevention Guide Booklets'.

Make a commitment to lower teen suicides in your school by raising funds to get these booklets printed and made available in your school.
